

Statehood for Alaska Now Up Residents

By FRANK W. VAILLE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Alaska statehood is on the edge of statehood today — a 42-year fight near an end. The final vote, in an overwhelming 64-3 vote accompanied by gallery applause, completed congressional action Monday night on a bill to admit Alaska as the nation's 49th state.

Only presidential approval, expected Wednesday or Thursday, and formal acceptance by Alaskans are now required.

Sponsors predicted completion of these preliminaries late this fall, in time for the new state's two senators and one representative to be on hand for the opening of a new Congress next January.

The action portended the first change in boundaries of the United States since 1912 when statehood was extended to Arizona and New Mexico.

For Alaskans, statehood will mean that for the first time since the territory's acquisition in 1867 its residents will have voting representation in the House and Senate, can elect their own governor and state officials, and can vote for the President and vice president.

Statehood also would give Alaska the right to select 103,350,000 acres of its area, including mineral lands, as a potential tax base for development purposes. This still would leave more than two thirds of the new state in federal ownership.

For the United States, it will extend the limits of the Union without adding a single mile of territory. Only the 55 miles of the Soviet mainland, only the 100 miles of the Soviet-held Big Diomedes Island in the Bering Strait, from Little Diomedes Island, which would be

Grand Jury Makes Report of Findings

Hempstead Grand Jury turned in the following report to Circuit Judge Lyle Brown:

"We, the Grand Jury of Hempstead County, serving during the April, 1958, term of Circuit Court, do hereby beg leave to submit the following Final Report:

"We have used the Committee method of investigating all matters pertaining to the operation of county government and public affairs, and have received and approved reports submitted by said Committees.

"There have been no irregularities insofar as law enforcement is concerned called to the attention of this Grand Jury.

"We found the county property to be in good condition and in a good state of repair. We would especially like to express our approval of the equipment recently purchased for the purpose of making the Tax Books for this county. We find that this equipment greatly expedites the making of said tax books and greatly lessens the chance for error in said books.

"The equipment owned by the county and used in the road department was found to be in good condition and in harmony with the inventory provided to the Grand Jury.

"We investigated the county offices and find that insofar as we could determine the affairs of each office were being properly conducted.

"We further found that each office is properly equipped to do the necessary work in each particular office.

"During the course of our investigation we found all public officials to be very cooperative and helpful to us.

"Having completed our deliberations and with the submission of this report, we beg leave to be discharged until further notice."

Dulles Says U.S. Won't Be Blackmailed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk asserted today the United States refuses to pay political blackmail for the release of Americans held captive in East Germany and Cuban rebel territory.

The government hopes to obtain release by other means, he told a news conference.

Dulles also said that only as a last resort would the intervention of U.S. military forces in Lebanon be desirable or justified.

It is much better for the Lebanese themselves, working through the U.N. to find a solution, Dulles said.

He added that he doubts whether it is practical—as the pro-Western Lebanese government has suggested—for U.N. teams in Lebanon to try to seal off the border with Syria.

More than 40 American citizens have been kidnapped by Cuban rebels, Dulles said. The rebels' purpose is to produce U.S. intervention but this country will not do

Luxury Yacht Explodes on Lake Ouachita

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—A 41-foot luxury yacht exploded and burned today on Lake Ouachita near Mount Ida, 30 miles northwest of here. Two men aboard the craft were injured slightly.

George Nixon, 58, of Jena, La., was hospitalized here and attendants reported his condition as good.

Ed Moore, 80, of Magnolia, owner of the yacht, was treated here for minor burns.

Cause of the explosion was not known.

The wives of the two men told authorities that the party of four, were attempting to tie up along the shore line when the blast occurred. Moore, a retired employee of Carter Oil Co., was thrown into the lake. Nixon said the cabin fell on her husband that when he finally freed himself he, too, fell into the water.

The women were ashore at the time attempting to loop a rope from the boat around a tree and were not harmed.

State Trooper Glen Minton said the Moors, who recently moved from Vandalia, Ill., to Magnolia, had brought the yacht down the Mississippi River and up the Ouachita River to Camden.

The craft was transported to the lake by truck where the Nixons joined them for a vacation.

Nixon is employed by the Carter firm at Jena.

Minton estimated the value of the boat at between $25,000 and $35,000. The yacht had been refueled with 300 gallons of gasoline shortly before the explosion.

Degaulle in Algiers for a Showdown

By DAVID MASON
ALGIERS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle returned to Algeria today for his second visit in less than a month, facing the possibility of a showdown with French settlers who are angered because he has not pushed the policies they want.

A meeting with the leading circles of his government was postponed, however, as De Gaulle saved Algiers for the last stop on his tour. He landed at Telerghma, 30 miles west of Constantine, in eastern Algeria.

He is to fly to Oran, in west Algeria, and then visit the French Foreign Legion headquarters before coming on to Algiers.

At almost the same time his airplane was landing at Telerghma, a nationalist terrorist threw a grenade in downtown Algiers. A dozen persons were wounded.

Once more in his wartime uniform, De Gaulle was met at the airport by a host of military officers. At their head was Gen. Reoul Salan, the military commander in chief in Algeria who also has been running the government since the colonists' May 13 ouster of the Paris-appointed civilian regime.

De Gaulle came last on June 4 as a conquering hero cheered wildly by the settlers and soldiers whose defiance of the Paris government had recalled him to

House Probers Agree They Acted Properly

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators of the Sherman Adams case examined their consciences today and unanimously agreed they acted properly in hearing Adams' principal accuser, Boston financier John Fox, in public session.

Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark) gave this report after a closed session.

Most of the meeting, Harris told reporters, was devoted to future plans starting with the questioning Wednesday of Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

Fox, a business enemy of Goldfine, has picture Goldfine as getting special treatment from federal agencies through his friendship with Adams. President Eisenhower's top aide.

Fox wound up his testimony Monday with threats he would file libel suits against Adams and a lot of other people who called him a liar. Then he went to Pillsbury where he loosed a new shot today at Goldfine.

This was a prediction in a statement that Goldfine will refuse Wednesday to produce books and records subpoenaed by the Harris committee.

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Owen Harris (D-Ark) called his House investigating subcommittee into a closed-door strategy session today, and predicted members from both parties would back the present course.

Public hearings were recessed until Wednesday. Millionaire Bernard Goldfine of Boston appears then to reply to charges that, as a field of presidential aide Sherman Adams, he received preferential treatment from federal regulatory agencies.

Harris said the subcommittee wanted to talk over charges made in the House Monday by Rep. Thomas E. Curtis (R-Mo) that the group violated a House rule by allowing a witness publicly to defame others.

Curtis demanded creation of a special three-man committee to decide whether the rule had been violated, but he was ruled out of order.

Heavy Rains Damage Crops in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Heavy rains early last week wreaked minor havoc with crops in many sections of the state, the federal-state Crop Reporting Service said today.

"A period of clear, warm weather is greatly needed over most of the state," said Miles McPeck, agricultural statistician. He said recent weather has been too cool for some crops to develop properly.

"The rain interfered with soybean planting in a number of counties, delayed completion of the small grain harvest, damaged cut hay and hampered row crop cultivation.

Except in parts of northeastern Arkansas, farmers have an adequate to excessive supply of soil moisture, McPeck said.

Both cotton and rice fields are troubled with excessive grass.

All peach growing areas are marketing a good crop of early fruit but heavy rains and warm damage have darkened the tomato outlook.

All Around Town

Work should begin within 10 days on a Hempstead Highway project, No. 73 beginning at Columbus and extending east and southward, generally following the existing location of Highway 73 to Crossroads. It consists of 6.6 miles of grading, drainage structures, gravel base and double bituminous surface treatment.

Doing the work will be Southeast Construction Co., Inc., of Pine Bluff on a low bid of $159,399.53 and the company will have 150 working days in which to complete the job. Work will be under the supervision of J. W. Robison, resident engineer for the Highway Department.

TO TESTIFY — Bernard Goldfine, right, gift-giving Boston financier, arrives in Washington with his wife to answer charges that he once boasted that presidential aide Sherman Adams had promised to take care of his troubles with federal agencies. Goldfine is scheduled to testify before the House influence investigators today.

Describes Big Boom Ahead for America

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Frederick H. Mueller, assistant secretary of commerce, said today the United States is heading toward a boom so big that the postwar economic peaks will appear as mole hills.

In an address prepared for the Milwaukee Rotary Club, Mueller said the Commerce Department projections, involving no guesswork and making full allowance for error, clearly show the ultimate direction of the economy.

"Under these conditions," he said, "I feel absolutely free in saying to you that this nation is headed towards the greatest period of economic activity the world has ever seen."

"Forthcoming is a period where demand for our goods, services, and supplies will be so great that the peaks of business and industrial expansion we have seen in 1955, 1956 and 1957 will appear as mole hills," he said.

He didn't venture a prediction on when this boom might develop. But he spoke in optimistic terms of present economic conditions and assailed "retailers of nonsense" who, he said, "died their level head to talk us into an economic tailspin."

He said it is amazing "what a heavy psychological impact can be generated by a pack of self-styled 'experts' running around and shouting depression every time an economic indicator failed to hit the record level of August 1957."

Wildlife Asso. Meets Thursday

Man Suffers Broken Arm, Head Injury

Men Drivers Told Hazard's to Be Reduced

WASHINGTON (AP)—Memo to men drivers:

Take heart, the people planning the highways of the future are talking about ways to reduce hazards from skittish women drivers.

A Carl Stelling, a New York highway consultant, told about some of the ideas, saying today's "masculine" highways must in the future give way to roads geared to feminine driving habits.

Women are generally less confident than men in making their driving decisions, Stelling said today in a speech prepared for the American Society of Landscape Architects.

Also, he said, they tend to panic more quickly than men in tight situations and their attentions more likely to wander off the road.

What to do about it.

Well, Stelling foresaw the day when:

1. Travel lanes would be wider, allowing women a greater margin of error in their motor maneuvering.
2. An extra, slow speed, truckless lane would be reserved for women who get nervous at high speeds.
3. Emergency turnoff, or panic, areas would be closer together and would be equipped with portable telephones, benches and shelters for bad weather.
4. Highway pavement would be done in pastel colors—most women would find it easier to follow colors than to read signs.

U.S. Tries to Gain Release of Prisoners

By GEORGE KAUFMAN
HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—U.S. diplomats kept up their efforts today to obtain the release of 41 Americans and three Canadians from Fidel Castro's rebels. There was no word on their progress.

The rebel high command reportedly was considering whether to give up the servicemen and civilians seized in a series of raids in eastern Cuba beginning last Thursday night.

The decision was awaited by two U.S. consuls trying to deal with separate groups of rebels. U.S. Embassy sources in Havana indicated there might be some report today.

Park Wollam, consul at Santiago, in rebel-ridden Oriente province, was in contact with forces of Castro's brother Raul northeast of Santiago. Wollam was seeking release of 10 American and two Canadian engineers kidnapped Thursday from a mining development at Mon. The rebels have been quoted as saving these 12 were being well cared for and would be released soon.

The vice consul at Santiago, Robert Wiecha, was in the hills around Guantanamo Bay trying to gain freedom for 22 Navy men and Marines from the U.S. Navy base there. Although there was no word that Wiecha was in contact with the rebels, a Navy spokesman at the base said he did not expect the servicemen to be held long.

The location of the remaining captives was not pinpointed. They are two American managers of a nickel plant, seized by rebel forces Monday, and two sugar mill executives, an American and a Canadian.

Castro, whose 18-month guerrilla war to overthrow President Fulbright Batista, gained down after government victories last April, has accused the United States of kidnapping the prisoners.

Cuban Rebels Seize 4 More Americans, Total Now Is 48

By GEORGE KAUFMAN
HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—A rebel raiding party kidnapped four more Americans in eastern Cuba today. Two U.S. diplomats sought the release of 41 other Americans and 3 Canadians seized since Thursday.

The four were abducted by rebels from a United Fruit Co. sugar plantation at Guar, near Preston, on the northeast coast of Oriente province. Company officials said the rebels entered sleeping quarters of the combination sugar mill and agricultural experiment station about midnight.

The four men apparently were selected at random.

They were A. F. Smith of New Hampshire, the agricultural superintendent; J. P. Stephens of Oklahoma, assistant superintendent; and two district superintendents, H. F. Sparks of Indiana, and a man named Ford whose home state was not learned.

No violence was reported during the raid by a party of unidentified size. Guar is about 40 miles west of Mon, where 12 engineers were seized Thursday night in the first kidnapping.

There was no word on the diplomats' progress in dealing with Fidel Castro's forces.

Ward Links Faubus, Pals to Ark-La

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—In a whipslap campaign attack, Chancellor Lee Ward charged last night that Gov. Orval Faubus had done deals with the Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. and wouldn't even take note of the frequently repeated allegation.

"We have been reading a lot about similar things on the national level," the Paragould chancellor told an audience, "but here in Arkansas we have a duplication of everything that is bad in that respect."

"Orval Faubus doesn't even bother to explain. Men in the national government have been fired for less."

Ward charged that four of the governor's official family—Arnold Sikes, J. Orville Cheney, Claude Carpenter Jr. and Rolla Mitchell—held stock in the gas utility when Ark La won a rate increase from the state Public Service Commission two years ago.

Sikes, formerly the governor's executive secretary, and Cheney, the former state revenue commissioner, both resigned recently to help in Faubus' bid for a third term.

Carpenter formerly was an attorney for the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Department and also works in the campaign now.

Ward again challenged Faubus to say how much stock he owns in Ark La "in his name or any other name."

The judge said the relationship between Faubus and Ark La "borders on immorality" and promised he would eliminate such practices if elected.

Alaskans in Big and Wild Celebration

By WILLIAM J. TOBIN
JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Alaskans caught their breath today after tassing the wildest celebration since gold rush days, and looked ahead to a problem-ridden future as the nation's biggest state.

They poured it on Monday night, with whistles, sirens, horns, bells and fireworks as they cheered news of the Senate's passage of the statehood bill. Street dances followed parades. In Sitka, one-time capital of Russian Alaska, drinks were on the house.

There seemed to be no possibility that either President Eisenhower or Alaskans would reject statehood now that Congress has approved it. But before Alaska's star is added to the flag, a monumental task faces the territory in preparing for actual admission to the Union.

Celebrants who have fought and dreamed of statehood for the vast territory set aside thoughts of the difficult period ahead and toasted victory.

At Fairbanks, the Chena River turned gold. Wildly happy residents poured dye into the stream near where one of Alaska's big

Patient Quota Law Voided by Supreme Court

By LEON HATCH
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court today voided, 4 to 3, a quota system set up for the State Medical Center by the 1957 Legislature.

The majority based its ruling solely on what it said was discrimination shown in the act in favor of Marked Tree and Poinsett County.

The act assigned patient quotas for the Medical Center to each of the counties and to cities of more than 10,000 population as shown by the 1950 federal census. It also assigned a quota to Marked Tree which did not have a 10,000 population.

Indigent patients were to be admitted free up to the quota level. Above that, the counties or cities in which the patients lived were to be charged for the patient care.

Effect of the ruling will be to require the provision for payment, at least until the 1959 Legislature meets. Under the majority opinion, the Legislature apparently could pass a new act without the alleged discrimination in favor of Marked Tree and have it declared valid.

The cities of Little Rock and North Little Rock, Pulaski County and five other counties attacked the act, which Pulaski Chancellor Guy E. Williams ruled unconstitutional.

The majority opinion, written by Associate Justice George Rose Smith, discussed in detail the complicated formula by which the quotas were set up.

It rejected, point by point, every allegation of unconstitutionality made against the act except the one that the act discriminates in favor of Poinsett County and Marked Tree.

The majority agreed that this discrimination did exist and said: "We cannot escape the conclusion that the discrimination was deliberately written into the act. As much as we are in sympathy with the purposes of this act, we have no alternative except to hold that it violates the constitution."

The holding was on ground laid by the special treatment of Marked Tree and Poinsett County, the act became local in nature and, therefore, violative of the constitution.

"In the act before us," the opinion noted, "Marked Tree, a city in Poinsett County, is given annual quotas of 211 patient days and 151 emergency and clinic visits."

PSC Authorizes Gas Systems

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Public Service Commission today authorized the municipalities of McCrory, Patterson and Tupelo to issue a total of $575,000 worth of bonds to finance installation of gas systems.
The towns will install the systems and then lease them to Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. for operation. The cost will be $395,000 for McCrory, $99,000 for Patterson and $80,500 for Tupelo.
In another order the commission authorized the De Queen Telephone Co. to borrow an additional $24,400 to help pay for a $344,500 expansion project which it undertook in 1956.

Harvest-time Wheat Prices at Low Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agricultural Marketing Service said today harvest time prices of wheat may drop to the lowest levels in 13 years.
Factors pointing to such a decline — which would be about 25 per cent below a year earlier — include prospects for the fourth largest crop of record, a lower government price support level and ineligibility of part of the crop for price support aid.
A report on the wheat situation said average farm prices as low as $1.45 a bushel are possible this summer. The last time harvest period prices were that low was in the summer of 1945. A year ago, summer prices ran around $1.90.
This prospect was expected to lead many farmers to store their wheat under price support loans, which will average about $1.82 a bushel. The support rate averaged $2 last year.
The marketing service said, however, that a considerable quantity of wheat will not be eligible for price support loans because it was grown on acreages in excess of allotments. Loans are limited to farms complying with allotments.
The report said wheat prices may strengthen after the heavy market movement slackens following harvest.
Prices of durum wheat, the kind used in making macaroni, spaghetti and like foods, are expected to average higher than most other types because supplies of it are not large.
This year's wheat crop has been forecast at 1,271,000,000 bushels compared with 947 million last year. The crop will be supplemented by carryover reserve and surplus supplies estimated at 890 million bushels.
The marketing service said it appears domestic markets will take about 593 million bushels and that exports will take about 375 million bushels.
This would leave reserve and surpluses of about 1,200,000,000 bushels a year from now, which would be a record high. Cost of it would be held by the government under price support programs.

Murder Charge Against Negro

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Prosecutor Frank Holt filed a first degree murder charge today against Willie (Bob) Brown, father of a Negro girl expelled from Central High School last term.
Brown, 57, has been freed on bond under a murder charge of unspecified degree — placed on the Municipal Court docket last week in connection with the fatal shooting of Elmer Isaac, 63, another Negro.
The case had been set for hearing tomorrow. Brown is the father of Minnie Jean Brown, the former Central High student.
Isaac was shot three times in front of a Negro club last week. Deputy Prosecutor John T. Jernigan said Brown admitted the slaying but claimed self defense.
The account of witnesses differs from Brown's version, Jernigan said.

Finkbeiner's Wife Has an Operation

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The wife of gubernatorial candidate Chris Finkbeiner was rushed to a hospital here early yesterday for an emergency operation.
She is recovering nicely, Finkbeiner reported.
The candidate said his wife underwent surgery for an obstruction in the intestines.
Finkbeiner said that if her condition continued satisfactorily, he probably would be able to maintain his campaign schedule but that he would fly home every afternoon or night.
"My wife takes precedent," he said.

Finkbeiner, a Little Rock meat packer, had no appearances scheduled for today.
Tuesday, he plans to visit Flipplin, Yellville, Cotter, Gassville, Mountain Home, Harrison, Alpena, Green Forest, Berryville and Eureka Springs.

He plans to spend most of Wednesday at Stuttgart with visits also scheduled at De Witt and Gillett.

The schedule for Thursday calls for visits at Nashville, Murfreesboro, Kirby, Amity, Glenwood, Deal, Caddo Gap, Norman and Mt. Ida. He will speak Thursday night at a picnic in Morrilton.

Friday, Finkbeiner has speeches scheduled at Piggott, Corning, Elia, Beebe and Camden. He also intends to visit at Judella.

Another Auto Plant Closes at Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Plymouth body and assembly plants of Chrysler Corp. in Detroit were closed today shortly after the start of the day shift, idling 2,700 workers in recurrence of a dispute which stopped the plants last Friday.

The company said some trim department workers again refused to do work assigned them. About 1,500 other employees were not home.

A body shortage resulted in the assembly plant, making it necessary to lay off 1,200 employees there, the company said.

Union officials had no immediate comment. Last week they accused the company of speeding up.

The dispute started Friday. Chrysler charged two supervisors were manhandled while meeting out disciplinary layoffs to seven workers for failure to meet production standards. Both day and night shifts were idled Friday.

United Auto Workers bargaining team, supported by a 1946-1 membership vote to strike if necessary, resumed few contract talks with the Big Three.

Strike votes at UAW locals at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler plants throughout the country were asked by UAW President Walter P. Reuther to support negotiators.

The UAW did its latest strike tabulation listed 129,127 members in favor of strike action, compared with 845 against. The tally is less than half completed.

Harris Denies House Rule Violation

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Owen Harris (D-Ark.) said today his subcommittee investigating the Sherman Adams case hasn't violated a House rule requiring secret sessions when a committee decides testimony may defame anyone.

Harris defended his subcommittee's procedure against stiff criticism as he called back businessman lawyer John Fox for a third day of questioning under oath.

Fox has pictured his business rival, Boston millionaire Bernard Goldfine as getting favored treatment from federal agencies through friendship with Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide. Adams has issued many denials; so have Goldfine's lawyers.

Goldfine flew in from Boston Sunday night but was reported planning to stay clear of today's hearing. His lawyer said they wanted Goldfine to come up on Fox's allegations so he will be ready for a scheduled appearance Tuesday.

Before leaving Boston, Goldfine told newsmen he would answer all questions put to him by investigators "if my attorneys agree. I have nothing to hide."

TOWN TAMER

By FRANK CRIDER

THE STORY: Tom Rosser, the town tamer, has been offered a new horse by Joe Leach, the new stable owner, for $150. Rosser learns that Leach has already turned down $400 for the horse.

Chapter XII

Long before he completed his examination of Alexander, Rosser knew that he had to own this horse. Money was no object. He would give every dollar he had in his pocket and more.

He came out of the stall to meet Joe Leach descending a ladder from a room over the stable. He was in his undershirt, but had put on his trousers and boots.

"How much?"

"What I said last night. A hundred and fifty."

Rosser's eyes went to the night hostler. "Didn't some offer you a hundred for him?"

"Some people talk too much," Leach scowled at the hostler. "Get back to your nap, Amos."

The hostler went off and Leach dropped his voice to a confidential whisper. "Horse has a little flaw. He can't stand to have any other horse pass him."

Rosser shook his head. "I don't need charity."

"All right, pay me more."

"Three hundred."

"He's yours."

Rosser continued to frown.

"For some reason you're trying to place me under an obligation. What do you want?"

"Your friendship."

"That's all?"

"That hard to believe, Rosser?"

"I won $500 last night..."

"About what I lost."

Rosser made a sudden decision. "I'll buy the horse from you. For the $500 I won last night."

"You own Alexander?"

"I also want a saddle."

"Alexander's private saddle goes with him."

He saddled the horse and with Joe Leach watching, mounted him and rode out upon the street. He trotted the magnificent horse out to open country, then gradually put him into a fast run, winding up in a gallop.

He took the horseback to the stable. Leach was gone, but he turned him over to Amos, the hostler. "He's all you said he was and more."

When he stepped out of the stable, Rosser saw the sheriff, Wes Parker, bearing down on him.

"Saw you riding Alexander," the sheriff remarked.

"I bought him."

Parker looked at him sharply. "Everybody in Great Plains has tried to buy that horse from Leach. He wouldn't sell."

Rosser grinned. "You one of the people who tried to buy Alexander?"

"Why not?"

"All right, Sheriff. I paid $50.00. What I won last night an what Leach lost."

"Leach plays cards with Charlie Hodder and Josh Moody."

"I suppose that means something."

Parker grimaced. "They're what you might call the respectable element in this town..."

"Which side are you on, Sheriff?"

"That's a good question. I've even asked it of myself. I came to town two months ago and someone suggested I put my name up for sheriff..."

"Who suggested it?"

"Not Riley Condor. He wasn't here at the time," Parker nodded toward Rud's Saloon. "Ken Rud and to save you time, I'll answer the next question. Yes, Rud and Condor are as thick as — as thieves. I can only add to that, that I know Rud slightly some years ago down in — in Dodge City."

"You were in Dodge?"

"Passing through. I was driving a herd from Denton, Tex., to Wyoming. Rud had a place in Dodge City."

Parker smiled crookedly. "Next question?"

Rosser shook his head. "I've asked about three more questions than I have a right to ask of a man I've only known for a day."

"All right," Parker said cheerfully. "Now answer just one question for me. Why are you in Great Plains?"

Rosser shook his head. "You don't like the answer I gave you yesterday?"

"Not especially."

"I wonder what kind of breakfast Mary Donley serves," Rosser said evenly.

As they left the restaurant, Flon came toward them across the street. He was grinning wickedly. "Riley's back," he said, as he came up.

"That's supposed to mean something," Rosser asked.

"He wants to talk to you."

"I'm staying at the hotel."

"You're pretty big," said Flon, "but take off the gun and I'll take you to Riley."

"Why don't you try taking the gun from me?" Rosser challenged.

Flon smiled at the sheriff. "You see, Sheriff, he's trying to make trouble..."

"Seems to me you're the one looking for the fight," Parker said sourly.

"Me? Why, I don't even carry a gun."

"You crippled a man less than two weeks ago."

"With my bare hands."

"You're not going to break any of my bones," Rosser said warmly. "I'm warning you about that right now. You touch me and I'll put a bullet into you."

"See, Sheriff?"

"Go back to Condor," the sheriff said. "Tell him Mr. Rosser refuses to see him."

"No," said Rosser. "I'll go to him."

CHAPTER XIII

Rosser slackened his pace so that Parker fell in beside him. "I know about you and Condor."

You were enemies back in Kansas," the sheriff said.

"Someday," Rosser said. "I'm going to kill Condor."

"Not today."

"I'll choose the time and the place. When there's just Condor and me."

"That's fair, Rosser."

They had reached the Pleasure Palace. Without hesitation, Rosser pushed open the door and went inside. He heard Parker's footsteps behind him.

It was a stakeout, of course. Slim Akins and another man were at the bar; two gun-carrying men were at the right of the room, not too far back and Flon was just outside the door of Condor's office, which stood open. Three men were carelessly watching from the balcony that went around three sides of the huge room.

Rosser barely glanced around the room, then stepped to the bar, a few feet from Slim Akins.

"Tell him yourself."

"Your job," Rosser said deliberately. "I'm shooting people in the back. I don't want to make it too easy for you."

"You're asking for it, Rosser."

"Not from you. I'm not. You won't stand up and fight..."

"Don't be too sure of that," Akins scowled at Rosser. "I haven't heard of you facing any man lately."

The inference was plain enough but Rosser had been expecting a taunt to snap him into gunplay — gunplay that would be his fling.

Condor stepped out of his office. He gave Rosser a half salute.

"Rosser?"

"You wanted to see me, Condor?"

Condor came forward, his face

twisted into a frozen smile. "Heard you were in town. Always want to see my old friends."

"We're friends, Condor?"

"This is a new year, a new town..."

"And a new deal?"

Condor shrugged. "You're calling it."

"And deck you're dealing is a crooked one, Condor."

The frozen smile on Condor's face became a little more solid.

"You're laying it on the line."

"That's right, Condor. You don't dare kill me with this many witnesses, but you'll try to get me in the dark when I least expect it. I know that. I also know that I'm going to kill you in the end."

"You're making that threat in front of these same witnesses."

Condor looked past Rosser at Wes Parker. "You heard him, Sheriff?"

"I heard him," said the sheriff. "Slim Akins took a forward step. 'You're talkin' mighty big for an old—'"

That was as far as he got. Rosser smashed him savagely in the face with his fist. Akins went back against the bar, caromed from it to the floor. He rolled over, struggled to his knees and groped for his gun.

He got the weapon clear and Parker kicked it from his hand. "There'll be no gunplay here," he announced. He drew his own revolver and sent a quick look around the room. "Call in your dogs, Mr. Condor."

The smile was finally gone from Condor's face. He made a small gesture with his right hand, his eyes still on Rosser. "You said your piece, Rosser."

"I think we understand each other."

Rosser turned and walked easily out of the Pleasure Palace.

He shook his head. He had been in no real danger. Riley Condor had made the stakeout only to impress him. He would never have Rosser shot down in broad daylight, in his own saloon.

A hotel corridor at night. A shot in the dark that was Riley Condor's trade-mark. A hired assassin, like the man from Idaho, back in Broken Lance.

Rosser had spent a month in Idaho, the previous winter. A man named Lee Ring had left his old stamping grounds in the Hotel-in-the-Wall country late in September and had not returned. That much he had learned. But Lee Ring was only a name. The people who knew the name could not describe Ring and those who knew him were as hard to find as Lee Ring himself. Even if Rosser had found them, they were not the kind who would talk.

Rosser removed his boots and stretched out upon the bed. He had dozed only for minutes at a time during the night. He was bone-weary, yet he could not sleep. His mind kept wandering...

Not to the scene at the Pleasure Palace, but to the woman who had accosted him the night before on the veranda of the hotel.

Susan Tavenner.

She was so much like Carol

Grannan.

"No," he suddenly said aloud. "Carol Grannan was dead. She was the only woman he had ever loved in his life, the only woman he would ever love."

And she was dead.

British and French Reach Understanding

By STANLEY JOHNSON

PARIS (AP) — French Premier de Gaulle and British Prime Minister Macmillan declared today they have reached an understanding for close cooperation.

A joint communique issued at the end of two days of talks said the two leaders were in complete accord on the necessity to defend the free world.

De Gaulle and Macmillan renewed the bonds of friendship and esteem forged 15 years ago when they were in Algeria working together to defeat the Nazis, the communique said.

The two chiefs of government held their discussions at De Gaulle's office. British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville met at the Foreign Ministry.

The communique did not mention specific subjects discussed.

Informed sources said, however, the two leaders were far apart on De Gaulle's plan to make France an atomic power and Macmillan's desire for the formation of a 17-nation European free trade zone.

Grannan.

"No," he suddenly said aloud. "Carol Grannan was dead. She was the only woman he had ever loved in his life, the only woman he would ever love."

Donovan Drops 9th Game to the Indians

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Luck of the Irish Don't try peddling that line to Dick Donovan, who a year ago was the right-handed ace of the Chicago White Sox and now is the last to get started on their late-starting staff.

The big guy, who lost only six all last season while winning 16 (the one topped his .727 winning percentage among American League regulars), now is 3-9—one loss shy of his worst season, as far as defeats are concerned. He was 12-10 in '56.

He took it on the chin again Monday night, losing 5-3 to the Cleveland Indians.

The Detroit Tigers, with the help of three unearned runs, two in the ninth, defeated Kansas City in the only other AL game scheduled.

In the National League, Milwaukee defeated Cincinnati 9-2, but second-place St. Louis stayed 2½ games behind the Braves by beating Los Angeles 4-2.

Donovan, 30, gave up all the Indians' seven hits and runs in his 6½ innings and lost his second in a row since blaking Baltimore 4-0 June 16.

Minnie Minoso, late of the Sox, belted his 12th home run to open a two-run second after Jim Landis' ninth home run had given Chicago a 1-0 edge. Mickey Vernon drove in two Cleveland runs with a single and double.

Cal McLish (4-3) checked the Sox on five hits, giving way to reliever Hoyt Wilhelm when doubles by pinch hitter Earl Torgerson and Billy Goodman counted the other Sox runs in the eighth.

The Tigers, who blow two leads, scored three runs in the ninth after Bob Cerv's solo 20th homer gave the A's a 6-4 edge. Harvey Kuenn, hitless in five at-bats, caused all the fuss with the bases loaded and one out.

Kuenn rapped what looked like a double-play ball to third baseman Preston Ward, but two runs scored when he pegged it into right field, and the winning run came home when Roger Maris got off a bum throw after retrieving the ball. Reliever Tom Gorman (1-3) was the loser, while Billy Hoft (7-8) picked up the decision in relief.

Group to Promote Safety on Lakes

MOUNTAIN HOME, Ark. (AP)—A sheriff's Marine Patrol will be organized here to promote safety on lakes and rivers in Baxter County.

Sheriff Jack Gregory said volunteers in the group will be deputized to watch over portions of Bull Shoals and Norfolk lakes and the White River.

The patrol will encourage safe boating practices and participate in rescue operations.

Negro Drowns Near Conway

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Cecil Bynum, 43-year-old Negro, drowned yesterday in a stock pond on the C. W. Adkisson farm near Palmar.

Bynum was swimming with three of his 12 children. He told the others he was going to swim across the pond. He disappeared before reaching the opposite bank. The body was recovered.

Bynum was employed as a tractor driver on the farm. His widow also survives.

Sphan, Musial Showing Youths How It Is Done

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Warren Sphan and Stan Musial, Mr. Pitcher and Mr. Hitter in the National League, have shown the kids how to do just about everything else, so now they're giving lessons in how to shake slumps.

Sphan, like Musial a light-hearted 37, suddenly got to throwing gopher balls after winning eight of his first nine decisions and just as suddenly lost three in a row.

Stan the Man, a near unanimous All-Star Game selection, was flirting with a .500-plus average until three weeks ago, then sagged into a 4-for-38 slump that averages out to .105.

Now they're back in business. Sphan became the first pitcher to win 10 in the NL this season, winning his second in a row for the league-leading Milwaukee Braves with a six-hitter that flattened his favorite victims, the Cincinnati Redlegs, 9-2 Monday night.

Musial was 2-for-3, driving in two runs with his 13th homer and a double, as the second-place St. Louis Cardinals stayed within 2½ games of Milwaukee with a 4-2 victory over Los Angeles in the only other game scheduled in the NL.

In the American League, Detroit defeated Kansas City 7-4, and Cleveland beat the Chicago White Sox 5-3.

Sphan, who had given up 12 home runs in his last four games, kept the Redlegs inside the park at Milwaukee, walking one and allowing only one earned run while the Braves bunched 10 of their dozen hits in a four-run fourth and a five-run fifth. Del Crandall drove in three runs with a single and a double.

Right-hander Bob Purkey (8-5) suffered his fourth consecutive defeat.

Musial, batting .302 in his last nine games and now .303 for the year, behind the 309 points by Willie Mays of San Francisco, hit his 39th homer in a two-run Cardinal first that chased rookie Bob Chalmers in his first major league decision. A walk, stolen base and an error gave the Cards the payoff run in the third and Musial then soaked in the cushion run in the fifth. Winner Libby McDaniel (6-7) gave only seven hits.

Other Sports May Get More Freedom

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress may yet decide this summer whether to give pro football, basketball and hockey some of baseball's freedom from the antitrust laws.

The Senate Antitrust subcommittee has decided to open hearings on the legal status of sports soon, probably July 8 or 9.

Subcommittee Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said there was no move in a closed meeting to kill a sports bill passed by the House.

"It was the sense of the subcommittee that we go into this with an open mind to get all the facts and problems," Kefauver said.

Opponents of the House bill have hoped the Senate would put it aside this year. That would mean the House and Senate, now ending the 85th Congress, would have to start all over again next year.

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) said last week he would fight the House measure to the limit. Celler heads the House Antitrust subcommittee. He pushed a bill to give antitrust exemptions only to practices found "reasonably necessary" to the sports.

The House turned this one down for a bill by Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) and supported by Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.), senior Republican on the House subcommittee. This bill would fully exempt such practices as player drafts, contract options, trades, territorial rights and self-regulation of TV-radio broadcasts.

Ticket sales, concessions and other commercial activities would be governed by antitrust laws. Baseball is now wholly exempt, as the result of Supreme Court decisions. But the court has held that pro football is wholly covered and implied that no other sport may enjoy baseball's immunity.

Fox Declares Adams Hushed Up Goldfine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ex-publisher John Fox swore today that Sherman Adams had tried to hush up Bernard Goldfine and prevent him from boasting that Adams had never let him down.

Fox thus flatly contradicted a denial by Adams, President Eisenhower's principal assistant, that Goldfine made such a statement in his presence.

It came after the House subcommittee hearing testimony by Fox for the third day clamped down on Fox, refusing to let him add a new statement in the probe of the Adams-Goldfine case.

Fox, stormy Boston financial figure, repeated with details his story of a conference in the Sheraton-Carlton Hotel here involving Adams and Goldfine and of Goldfine's subsequent boast to Adams.

Goldfine, wealthy Boston industrialist, was having difficulties at the time—May, 1955—with the Federal Trade Commission over labeling of some of his textile factory products.

After the conference with Adams, Fox said, Goldfine called Fox into the room for a drink and proposed a toast to Adams, who "never lets his friends down and isn't letting me down now."

Rep. Joseph P. O'Hara (R-Minn.) asked Fox whether this was "a kidding remark."

Fox said he didn't know, but "Adams told Goldfine by the arm to a far corner of the room and quite obviously admonished him not to talk too much."

Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.) interrupted to admonish Fox not to testify about things he didn't know.

Vincennes, founded in 1781, was the first permanent white settlement in Indiana.
